

MERIDIANS AND CHAKRAS

The meridians are lines of force along which flows our energy (Qi in Chinese Medicine). They meet in 7 main points, the chakras. They are real nodes in a complex communication system carrying nurturing energy in human aura. Throughout their analysis it is possible to capture special disharmonies, often closely related to emotional states, and rebalance aura by removing energy loss.

POLARIZATION OF WATER

75% of our body is made of water.

Cells metabolism, cells energy and efficiency, nutrients and vitamins exchange are strongly influenced by the electrical charges and cell membranes polarization.

Water is a polar molecule with a particular memory effect due to the geometric arrangement of its molecules, and it is able to remind the energies with which it has come in contact, at its microscopic level. As water is also an essential element for our life, as well as forming the main part of our physical body, it is clear that its quality plays a decisive role in health and proper energy balance.

Resonance, Waves and Energy

Physics applications to human well-being

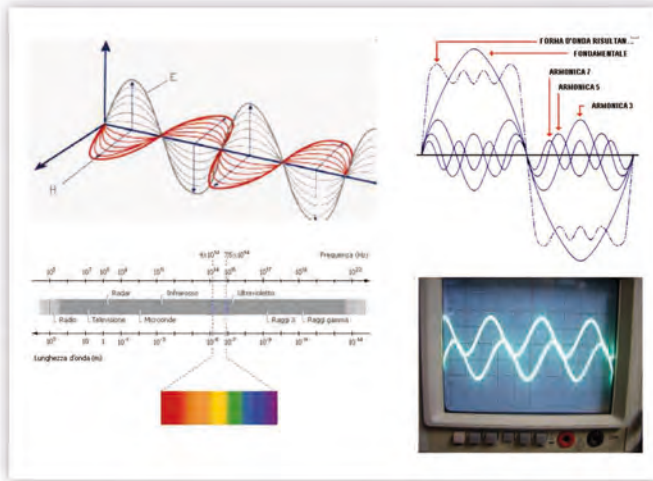

Mattia Zambetti

Structural engineer with special knowledge in structural dynamics, graduated in Naturopathy at College of Naturopathic Medicine and member of the BCMA (British Complementary Medicine Association), for over ten years he has been dealing with the analysis of resonance applied to both material and living organisms. With reference to physics and starting from the idea that every animate or inanimate structure, is characterized by its own main resonant frequency, he has developed a system whereby it is possible to individually test problems and disharmonies in the human energetic vibration. Co-operating with some of the best-known and cross-border physicians and biologists with international fame, his researches are not only a valuable tool for the identification of many troubles causes, but also a new approach to life, in order to seize also the ethereal and apparently still mysterious aspects.

WAVES

The waves are natural vibrations that accompany us every day in our life. They can be acoustic, light or electromagnetic waves.

Using them, it is possible to stimulate, by resonance, the meridians and organs of the human body, in order to recover proper energy function. This will have a direct impact on mental well-being.

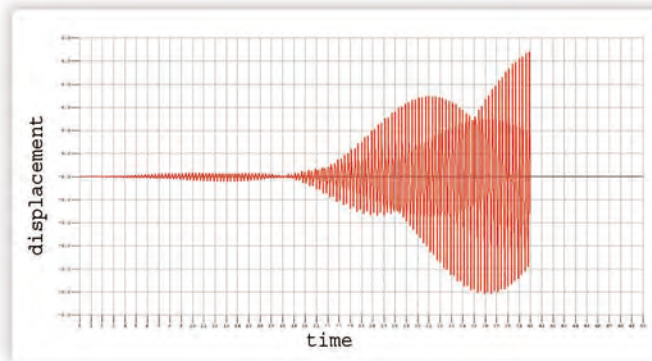

The approach is very mathematical. In particular by adopting algorithms FFT (Fast Fourier Transformation), each complex wave is considered in its fundamental components with carrier frequency and its harmonics. Each component is then transmitted to the body and the aura using coated electrodes and quartz crystals, in order to reconstruct the overall effect and therefore the proper electromagnetic pulse, designed to restore the correct organic functionality and energy balance.

RESONANCE

Resonance effect can only take place between structures characterized by the same frequency. There is resonance when the vibration induced in an object involves vibrations propagation to the other objects almost to establish a sort of "mutual dialogue".

A general interpretation of this phenomenon, mainly physical, allows us to go beyond the bounds of the visible and enter the invisible, leading us to search for deeper information on a subtle level action, achieving absolutely focused and very effective results.

SHAPE WAVES

Geometry and shapes come to us throughout light waves. Looking at the geometry of nature we find that many bodies have been built following special proportions, and precise laws.

Mathematics and fractal geometry help us to decode golden relationships and existing information in order to reveal natural constitutive laws, adopting which, one can cross new frontiers of knowledge.
